

Arkadiusz Sitek, Ph.D., Sano Center for Computational Medicine

Temat: Computational decision support in medicine

Digital transformation made healthcare systems producing petabytes of medical data. Use of this information presents an opportunity to augment health related decision making by the public and clinical decision making by healthcare professionals. I will introduce the topic and summarize efforts of Sano Center for Computational Medicine in this area.