

Dr Ireneusz Ulidowski, prof. AGH (AGH and University of Leicester)

Changes at English universities, performance assessment and management

In this seminar I will describe basic elements of performance assessment and performance management at English universities, and specifically in Computer Science at Leicester. I will try to focus on positive aspects, which can help staff to develop. Is performance assessment and management very different at AGH? I hope we will know at the end of the seminar.